

ALAN BORGARS

---

Hello, students :)

My name's Alan Borgars, a postgraduate student of psychology here at London Met and a part-time disability support worker in London, and I believe you should give me your #1 vote for NUS Conference Delegate in the 2016 London Met SU elections.

1. Why am I the best person for the position of NUS Conference Delegate?

I have done this job four times before, when I was an undergraduate student at the University of Hertfordshire, in 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014. I performed my delegation diligently and honestly each time and made sure concerns of Hertfordshire's students were fairly represented. In particular, I stood up for the rights of students with disabilities at NUS Conferences.

I also believe in effecting progressive change at the NUS, particularly on green issues, and making sure the NUS actually campaigns for the students that represent it. I can also persuade the NUS to campaign for arts students who are facing the worst of higher education cuts, and in our case the closure of our specialist and important CASS campus.

2. What will I do for you if you elect me as an NUS Delegate for London Met?

If you give me your #1 vote and elect me, I promise to make sure all your concerns are heard at NUS Conference, persuade NUS to help campaign against the closure of specialist campuses at London Met and elsewhere, persuade the NUS to fight for free postgraduate education as opposed to loans, and fight against privatisation of important student services everywhere.

Thank you-remember, voting is from 7th March to 11th March 2016.
